RELEASE FOR SPEAKERS/PRESENTERS/PERFORMERS

This form is provided to you as a speaker, presenter, or performer in a course, seminar, lecture, performance, or other event at Stanford University, in person or virtually.

Stanford would like to record and capture your presentation or performance in audio and/or video format. To that end, we want to make certain that both you and the University have the necessary rights and protections to continue to benefit from your presentation. At the end of this process, a media release will be generated covering the captured presentation or performance (“Recording”) and use of all content and materials that are presented in or otherwise provided for use in connection with the Recording (“Materials”).

Stanford will hold the copyright to the Recording and would like to have the option to continue to use the Recording and Materials. In addition to creating an archive copy for educational purposes, possible uses of the Recording include, but are not limited to, inclusion in Stanford websites, social media, the creation of CDs or DVDs, and delivery to the public via distribution partners. You also understand that the Recording and Materials may be captured and delivered in any media, format, and form of distribution, including, without limitation, broadcasting and live streaming.

Finally, please understand that there is nothing in this Release requiring you to give your ideas or copyright to Stanford. If you plan to give the same talk, performance, or presentation somewhere else, there is certainly nothing in this release that would keep you from that engagement and you will retain all of your intellectual property rights to the underlying presentation, performance or content presented by you that are captured in the Recording. And, unless there is an exception called out to you by your Stanford host, Stanford is happy to provide a copy of the Recording to you and will grant you a non-exclusive license to use the Recording for your personal non-commercial use. Please keep in mind that Stanford marks, including Stanford's name and logo, which are often captured in the Recording, may not be used without the prior written consent of the university.

YOUR ACCOMPANYING MATERIALS:

Please complete this section to let us know about any content or accompanying materials you may include in the presentation or performance, or have for distribution with the Recording of your presentation (Materials). Examples include PowerPoint presentations, handouts, music, photos, video clips, graphs or charts. If you later become aware of additional Materials or otherwise need to amend this list, please contact your Stanford host.

Except as expressly identified below as third-party content, I represent and warrant that I am the sole copyright owner of the Materials provided by me and I hereby grant Stanford a non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable, transferable license to use such Materials in support of the Recording in any medium now known or hereafter created.

I do not own copyright to the following Materials that are provided by me (third-party content):
[Please specify all third-party content here]

I hereby represent that I have obtained all of the necessary rights and permission to use all third-party content in the Recording and Materials (e.g. music, video clips, photographs, texts, images) and to grant Stanford the permission described in this Release.

Special notes about use of third-party music: I will not include or perform any music that requires a license from a third party in my presentation, performance and Materials, unless I can provide evidence of proper license from all rights owners to Stanford in advance.

For other third-party content, I shall provide the associated permissions, licenses, and fair use analysis to evidence my right to use and grant Stanford the right to use such content upon Stanford's request.

If I do not have the necessary right to use any third-party material, I will not include such material in the presentation/performance and in the Materials. I also represent that I am not aware of any claim that the any of the Materials provided by me infringe or violate any rights in any other work or person.
